

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

A WOMAN IS GORED BY AN ANGRY COW.

RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS

She Came Here Several Days Ago From Pecos City, Texas, with a Babe in Her Arms and a Four Year Old Daughter, and was Here Without Work or Means of Support Yesterday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock a woman by the name of Evans was gored by an angry cow on north Main street in front of Capt. D. H. Clark's residence, and was rendered unconscious. She was carried into Capt. Clark's residence by E. L. Cooper and Geo. M. Chapman and medical assistance was summoned at once, and later Dr. W. W. Phillips the city physician was called as it developed that she was an object of charity and was here with two small children without friends or any means of support.

The woman was removed last night in a semi-conscious condition to a small house where she had secured a room on east 4th street east of the railroad track, where two families were living, and everything possible was done to relieve her suffering.

Two young men whose names could not be learned were driving the cow north on Main street, and the animal ran into Mrs. Cobean's yard, and became infuriated when they attempted to drive her out. The unfortunate woman was crossing the street and the cow saw her and dashed towards her and gored her on the stomach and fell on the woman bruising her head. The cow was very poor and was in a weak condition and was unable to arise. She was roped and pulled off the woman. Mrs. Evans came here some days ago from Pecos, Texas, with a babe in her arms and a four year old daughter, and she worked at the Roswell hotel for several days. She was given short notice to move from the hotel as they did not need her services, and she applied to the Salvation Army and the RECORD office for assistance which she secured. Nothing is known of the history of the woman, but everything possible will be done for her comfort at the expense of the city. It was indeed a sad sight when she was strong and well to see her walking the streets with a babe in her arms and a four year old child following her with no certainty of where the next meal was coming from. But it is much more pathetic to know that the mother is likely seriously injured without any certainty of recovery and with two babes to face the charity of the world. This is a good opportunity for those who are charitably disposed to contribute something for the aid of this unfortunate woman and her little ones.

MILITARY INSTITUTE.

List of Cadets Who Average Above 80 for First Term.

Last week closed the first term at the New Mexico Military Institute, session 1903-04. The work of the cadets has been unusually good. It is impossible, considering the fact that all students reside in the Barracks, for them to escape the work imposed. All students are required to remain in their study rooms during the study hours, and in case their average falls below a certain standard they are placed in study hall in charge of an instructor. The object of the school is to teach people, and the mastery of studies and textbooks is absolutely essential to this end.

At the last meeting of the regents it was decided to further strengthen the school by adding another member to the faculty; it being the policy of the regents not to overwork their teachers, or to have the minutest detail left unattended to on account of insufficient number of officers. The care of the cadets is of first importance, and while the members of the present faculty have succeeded in maintaining one of the best schools in the Southwest, it was clear that still better results could be obtained by placing another competent man on the teaching force.

After looking carefully over the situation they decided to appoint George W. Read, Jr., one of the captains, and to make him Assistant Instructor of Military Tactics and Science and Athletics.

Captain Read was one of the first cadets ever matriculate at the Institute, and was graduated with honor in the class of 1902. He was a cadet officer during the greater part of his cadetship and graduated as a cadet instructor during his last session at the Institute. He proved himself to be a careful teacher and a splendid disciplinarian.
